Extended Education & Online Learning

The Extended Education and On-Line Learning (EEOL) unit of the Division of Economic and Community Outreach (DECO) meets the diverse educational and consultation needs of clients regardless of their location. EEOL establishes effective working partnerships among corporations, government agencies, non-profit organizations, military, small business, and other enterprises throughout the area to make our services accessible to anyone via satellite centers and distance learning options. With qualified staff available to help business, government, communities, and individuals connect with and benefit from Towson University's considerable educational resources, EEOL strengthens the University's Community Outreach efforts.
